Message from IAAND's President

Dear IAANDites,

Greetings from Chennai India.

I cannot believe that we are soon to start IAAND’s fourth and final quarter of 2022-2023!

dreams and aspirations, and above all your expectations from IAAND. This month, it is about sharing the efforts and contributions from the Board of Directors and Leadership Team to make IAAND even more vibrant!

A lot of planning has been taking place for the upcoming IAAND events at this year's FNCE happening in October 2022 where our President-Elect Ahlam El-Shikieri, International Projects Coordinator Michiko Tomioka, and Keri International Coordinator Kay Gibbons, along with Country Representative Chair Rupal Shah are working together on a very exciting event for the FNCE Reception. With just a month left, I urge each IAAND member to actively participate by suggesting and helping in making this event a great success.

The Strategic Planning Committee initiated by former Past President Monique Richard comprises:
Past President Maria Bovill as its present chair
Delegate Esther Myers as its leading entity working alongside

- President Elect Ahlam El Shikieri
- Past BOD Member Naomi Trostler
- IAAND Member Prajakta Khare
- Media Representative Chair Karla Padrelanan and myself as President.

The committee has been regularly brainstorming ideas in the past months to update and define with clarity IAAND's mission, vision, and goals. Also, describing strategies for how IAAND builds on our core organizational strengths in food and nutrition research, advocacy and communications, professional development, workforce demand and capacity.

Additionally, I wish to draw the attention of the country representatives regarding the grand gesture of our parent body, in which the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics offers discounted membership rates for dietitians situated in countries categorized by the World Bank classification as "developing countries." It is a win-win situation for both the dietitians in terms of financial viability and IAAND where increased member participation is always welcomed. For that, I invite you to help me spread this information and

These are truly exciting interactive times ahead!
